This is my report on the Romans

By Chloe Le Page

Going to school

Poor Roman children never went to school - instead they had to go out to work.

Rich children went to a school called a ludus, where they learnt how to read and write.

Roman girls

Roman girls married at a young age, usually at 14 years old, but sometimes even at 12.

Women were encouraged to have children at a young age - young children often died, so families had many to make sure that a few survived.

Roman roads

The Romans built straight roads so they could get there as quickly as possible. Many roman roads are still in use today.

Roman army

The roman army was the best organized and the best trained army in the ancient world.

The Army names;

Legatus, tribune, praefectus castrorum, chief centurion, Centurion, tribunus militum, signifier, legionary soldier and Tessarius.
